About NAMC

The National Association of Minority Contractors (NAMC) is the oldest minority construction trade association in the United States with an annual project capacity of over one billion dollars nationally. The general purpose of NAMC-DFW is to initiate, encourage, and assist in the formation of an educational institute for construction contractors, their staff and their craftsmen. We initiate and operate training programs for persons desiring employment and procurement opportunities in the building trades to assure opportunities in all areas of this industry.
